

ABSTRACT

A loudspeaker drive unit comprising a visual display screen, a resonant panel-form member positioned adjacent to the display screen and at least a portion of which is transparent and through which the display screen is visible, and vibration exciting means to cause the panel-form member to resonate to act as an acoustic radiator.